Name: Dan Wales

Attended PCS: 2016-2021

Career/Life Journey since leaving PCS:

For the past two years I have been studying at Brighton College under the Opening Doors Full Scholarship. I have just completed my A Levels and am set to go to study Medicine at St George's University of London.

Employability Skills:

My roles as Head Boy at PCS and Head of House at Brighton College have taught me leadership skills, using the specialities of my peers for the benefit of others and providing a voice for the concerns of people around me. A love for performing arts has taught me great confidence and good public speaking skills. My 10 years in karate and martial arts have made me a well-disciplined individual and student who cares a lot about the work I do and I always striving to give it my all. I have a passion and drive to achieve, my perfectionist attitudes push me to aim big and achieve my goals to the best of my ability.

Future Career Aspirations:

After my studies at university, I plan to specialise as a doctor. I don't yet know what speciality I want to go into, but the future awaits me with endless opportunity.

Career Advice:

Take every opportunity you are given with both hands and run with it. Never think you are too big or too small for any task, treat everyone with respect and care and you will receive it in return. Results will come to you if you put in the work, don't reach the end and wish you could have done more.
