

What is Peace?

Is it an idea? or can it be defined?

Freedom from disturbance?

Or happiness and calm?

Or can you see it staring at you down the barrel of a gun?

Is it a goal that can be reached?

Or is it a dream that's too far fetched?

Can we achieve greatness at the hands of someone else's death?

Can someone else's downfall mean greatness for all?

or is war an endless cycle that damages us all?

Can the soldiers who risk their lives every day find peace in a world where bombs are okay?

Where fighting is normal

And losing your life shouldn't scare you,

but make you want to fight

So we remember the soldiers and the idea of peace, although peace is an Idea we may never reach

But with each kind act, a new hope is born,

A world of peace may still be drawn.
